

Here are the closest and most relevant hunting lodges, preserves, and outfitter-style stays near Antler, ND — including one right in Antler itself. These are the options that actually operate in the region and cater to hunters.

Closest Hunting Lodges & Resorts to Antler, ND

Below is a clean, location-accurate list based on verified regional data and search results.

★ 1. Range Hunting Preserve – Antler, ND (Right in Town)

- Type: Hunting preserve
- Address: 10651 20th Ave NW, Antler, ND 58711
- Rating: 5.0 (6 reviews)
- Notes: This is the closest hunting operation to Antler — located directly in the community. Great for upland bird hunting and private-land access.

★ 2. Mouse River Outfitters – Kramer, ND (~20 minutes south)

- Type: Hunting club / outfitter
- Address: 112 Charles St, Kramer, ND 58748
- Rating: 4.9 (49 reviews)
- Notes: Very close to Antler; known for waterfowl and upland bird hunts. Excellent reputation for guided experiences.

★ 3. Sandy Oaks Lodge – Towner, ND (~45 minutes south)

- Type: High-fence hunting preserve
- Address: 123 57th St N, Towner, ND 58788
- Rating: 5.0 (7 reviews)
- Game: Whitetail, mule deer, elk, bison
- Notes: Large (1,100+ acre) preserve with guided big-game hunts and full lodging.

★ 4. Logging Camp Ranch Resort – Amidon, ND (Farther away, but notable)

- Type: Indoor lodging / ranch resort
- Address: Amidon, ND 58620
- Rating: 4.8 (13 reviews)
- Notes: Not close to Antler, but appears in regional listings; more relevant for southwest ND hunts.

★ 5. Central Dakota Lodge – Goodrich, ND (Not close, but a known pheasant lodge)

- Type: Lodge
- Address: 451 16th Ave NE, Goodrich, ND 58444
- Rating: 4.8 (6 reviews)
- Notes: Pheasant-focused; included for completeness but not geographically close to Antler.

🏆 Best Options Specifically for Hunters Staying Near Antler

Top Picks

1. Range Hunting Preserve (Antler) – zero travel, private preserve access.
2. Mouse River Outfitters (Kramer) – closest high-quality guided option.
3. Sandy Oaks Lodge (Towner) – best for big-game preserve hunts.

The Antler, ND area sits right on the boundary of several North Dakota hunting units. The primary deer unit covering Antler is Unit 3A1, with nearby units 3A2, 3A3, and 3B1 just a short drive away. These same boundaries also influence turkey, upland bird, and some big-game seasons.

Below is a clear, hunter-friendly breakdown based on the official ND Game & Fish mapping resources.

🦌 Closest North Dakota Hunting Units to Antler, ND

Antler is located in northern Bottineau County, right along the Canadian border. The following units are the ones you'll actually hunt in or immediately around.

1. Deer Unit 3A1 — Antler's Home Unit

- Covers Antler and the surrounding farmland/prairie.
- Known for whitetail deer, with pockets of mule deer to the west.
- Mix of private land, PLOTS parcels, and scattered WPAs.
- This is the unit you'll be in if you step out of town and start hunting.

2. Deer Unit 3A2 — Immediately West & Southwest

- Begins just west/southwest of Antler.
- More rolling prairie and coulees.
- Good sharptail and pheasant country.

3. Deer Unit 3A3 — South of Antler

- Covers the region toward Kramer and Upham.
- Strong upland bird habitat and mixed farmland.
- A common unit for hunters staying near Mouse River Outfitters.

4. Deer Unit 3B1 — East of Antler

- Extends toward the Red River Valley edge.
- More agricultural, with scattered tree belts and WPAs.
- Good for whitetails and waterfowl.

Turkey, Upland Bird, and Waterfowl Zones

While deer units are the most referenced, other species use different zone systems:

Turkey Units

- Antler sits near the northern edge of Turkey Unit 51 (depending on annual maps).
- Turkey opportunities are more limited this far north but do exist along the Souris River corridor.

Upland Bird Ranges

- Sharp-tailed grouse, gray partridge, and pheasant ranges all overlap the Antler region.
- These are not “units” but mapped species ranges.

Waterfowl Zones

- Antler is in the Northern Waterfowl Zone, which has its own season dates.

North Dakota Unit 3A1 is considered one of the better public-land units for whitetail deer in the northwest part of the state. It offers solid deer populations, especially whitetail, and has more accessible land than many surrounding units.

Why Unit 3A1 Is a Good Whitetail Option

✓ Strong Whitetail Populations

- Whitetail deer are more abundant than mule deer in this unit.
- Healthy herd numbers are reported annually, with consistent harvest success.

✓ Public-Land Access

- 5.2% public land, plus extensive PLOTS (Private Land Open to Sportsmen) parcels.
- Includes Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge with 22,000+ acres of huntable land.
- More public access than neighboring units like 3A2 or 3B1.

✓ Terrain Variety

- Rolling hills, creek bottoms, and steep inclines near the White Earth River.
- Offers good cover and movement corridors for deer.

✓ DIY-Friendly

- Popular with non-guided hunters due to the mix of terrain and access.
- LandTrust and other platforms offer affordable private-land hunts in the area.

Location Context

- Antler, ND sits right in Unit 3A1, making it ideal for local hunts.
- Nearby towns like Bowbells and Tioga also offer access to good parcels.

Unit 3A1 includes several excellent public hunting zones, especially the massive Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge and a dense cluster of PLOTS parcels along the White Earth River and near Tioga. These areas offer strong whitetail and mule deer opportunities with good terrain variety.

Here's a breakdown of the best-known public-access zones within Unit 3A1:

● Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge

- Location: East edge of Unit 3A1, near Kenmare, ND
- Size: Over 22,000 acres
- Game: Whitetail deer, waterfowl, upland birds
- Access: Foot traffic only; check refuge rules annually
- Notes: Largest single public-access area in 3A1

● White Earth River Corridor (PLOTS & Trust Lands)

- Location: Southeast portion of 3A1, near Tioga
- Game: Whitetail and mule deer
- Terrain: Steep hillsides, creek bottoms, dense cover
- Notes: Multiple PLOTS parcels border each other here, creating large huntable zones

● PLOTS Parcels Near Bowbells & Antler

- Location: Scattered throughout northern 3A1
- Game: Whitetail, pheasant, sharptail
- Access: Walk-in only; use NDGF Hunting Atlas to locate parcels
- Notes: Some parcels border WPAs or Trust Lands for extended access

Use the NDGF Hunting Atlas or Avenza PDF maps:

- NDGF PLOTS Map Sheets
- Avenza App for Offline Use
- Interactive layers show PLOTS, Trust Lands, Wildlife Refuges, and unit boundaries

📍 Refuge Zones Near 3A1 (for broader planning)

Yes — North Dakota Unit 3A1 is considered one of the better public-land units for whitetail deer in the northwest part of the state. It offers solid deer populations, especially whitetail, and has more accessible land than many surrounding units.

Here's a detailed breakdown of why 3A1 is a strong choice:

Why Unit 3A1 Is a Good Whitetail Option

✔ Strong Whitetail Populations

- Whitetail deer are more abundant than mule deer in this unit.
- Healthy herd numbers are reported annually, with consistent harvest success.

✔ Public-Land Access

- 5.2% public land, plus extensive PLOTS (Private Land Open to Sportsmen) parcels.
- Includes Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge with 22,000+ acres of huntable land.
- More public access than neighboring units like 3A2 or 3B1.

✔ Terrain Variety

- Rolling hills, creek bottoms, and steep inclines near the White Earth River.
- Offers good cover and movement corridors for deer.

✔ DIY-Friendly

- Popular with non-guided hunters due to the mix of terrain and access.
- LandTrust and other platforms offer affordable private-land hunts in the area.

Location Context

- Antler, ND sits right in Unit 3A1, making it ideal for local hunts.
- Nearby towns like Bowbells and Tioga also offer access to good parcels.

Season Info (2025–2026)

How It Compares to Nearby Units

If you want help picking a specific PLOTS parcel or refuge zone within 3A1, I can map that out next.

Unit 3A1 includes several excellent public hunting zones, especially the massive Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge and a dense cluster of PLOTS parcels along the White Earth River and near Tioga. These areas offer strong whitetail and mule deer opportunities with good terrain variety.

Here's a breakdown of the best-known public-access zones within Unit 3A1:

Top Public Hunting Zones in ND Unit 3A1

Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge

- Location: East edge of Unit 3A1, near Kenmare, ND
- Size: Over 22,000 acres
- Game: Whitetail deer, waterfowl, upland birds
- Access: Foot traffic only; check refuge rules annually
- Notes: Largest single public-access area in 3A1

White Earth River Corridor (PLOTS & Trust Lands)

- Location: Southeast portion of 3A1, near Tioga
- Game: Whitetail and mule deer
- Terrain: Steep hillsides, creek bottoms, dense cover
- Notes: Multiple PLOTS parcels border each other here, creating large huntable zones

PLOTS Parcels Near Bowbells & Antler

- Location: Scattered throughout northern 3A1
- Game: Whitetail, pheasant, sharptail
- Access: Walk-in only; use NDGF Hunting Atlas to locate parcels
- Notes: Some parcels border WPAs or Trust Lands for extended access

How to Find Exact PLOTS Locations

Use the NDGF Hunting Atlas or Avenza PDF maps:

- NDGF PLOTS Map Sheets
- Avenza App for Offline Use
- Interactive layers show PLOTS, Trust Lands, Wildlife Refuges, and unit boundaries

Refuge Zones Near 3A1 (for broader planning)

Yes — North Dakota Unit 3A1 is considered one of the better public-land units for whitetail deer in the northwest part of the state. It offers solid deer populations, especially whitetail, and has more accessible land than many surrounding units.

Here's a detailed breakdown of why 3A1 is a strong choice:

Why Unit 3A1 Is a Good Whitetail Option

✔ Strong Whitetail Populations

- Whitetail deer are more abundant than mule deer in this unit.
- Healthy herd numbers are reported annually, with consistent harvest success.

✔ Public-Land Access

- 5.2% public land, plus extensive PLOTS (Private Land Open to Sportsmen) parcels.
- Includes Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge with 22,000+ acres of huntable land.
- More public access than neighboring units like 3A2 or 3B1.

✔ Terrain Variety

- Rolling hills, creek bottoms, and steep inclines near the White Earth River.
- Offers good cover and movement corridors for deer.

✔ DIY-Friendly

- Popular with non-guided hunters due to the mix of terrain and access.
- LandTrust and other platforms offer affordable private-land hunts in the area.

Location Context

- Antler, ND sits right in Unit 3A1, making it ideal for local hunts.
- Nearby towns like Bowbells and Tioga also offer access to good parcels.

Here's a clean, decision-ready comparison of the hunting units surrounding Antler, ND — focused on whitetail potential, access, terrain, and practicality for planning a hunt.

These units (3A1, 3A2, 3A3, 3B1) are the ones you'll actually hunt in or immediately around when staying in or near Antler.

Multi-Unit Comparison for the Antler, ND Hunting Area

Units Included

- 3A1 — Antler's home unit
- 3A2 — West of Antler
- 3A3 — South of Antler
- 3B1 — East of Antler

Quick Comparison Table

Unit-by-Unit Breakdown

Unit 3A1 — Best Overall for Whitetail (Antler's Home Unit)

- Strong whitetail numbers
- 5.2% public land plus many PLOTS parcels
- Includes Lostwood National Wildlife Refuge (22,000+ acres)
- Excellent terrain diversity: hills, draws, creek bottoms
- Very DIY-friendly

Why it stands out: Best mix of deer density + access + terrain.

Unit 3A2 — West of Antler

- More mule deer than whitetail
- Limited public access
- Rolling prairie and coulees
- Good sharptail grouse habitat

Best for: Hunters willing to secure private access.

Unit 3A3 — South of Antler

- Moderate whitetail numbers
- Mixed access (PLOTS + Trust Lands + private)
- Farmland + grassland mix

- Good upland bird overlap

Best for: Combo hunts (pheasant/sharptail + deer).

★ Unit 3B1 — East of Antler

- Moderate whitetail density
- Scattered public access
- Flat agricultural terrain
- Strong waterfowl opportunities

Best for: Waterfowl hunters who also want deer options.

🏆 Which Unit Should You Choose?

For Whitetail Deer:

➔ 3A1 (clear winner) — best deer numbers, best access, best terrain.

For Mule Deer:

➔ 3A2 — more mule deer habitat.

For Upland Birds:

➔ 3A3 — strong sharptail and pheasant overlap.

For Waterfowl:

➔ 3B1 — agricultural wetlands and flyway corridors.

📄 Want This as a PDF?

I can export this comparison into a clean, print-ready PDF.

Just say: “Export this comparison to PDF.”

If you want maps, PLOTS overlays, or a full Antler-area hunting guide, I can generate those too.